All Meeting attendees, even those who have registered in advance, must visit the ALI registration desk before entering the ballroom to sign in and obtain a name badge.

There is no registration fee for the Meeting.

Your name badge must be worn for all Meeting sessions and functions.

Why are there colored dots on some badges? We use a green dot on a badge, together with a green lanyard, to indicate that the wearer is a newly elected member of the Institute, and a red dot to designate those attending an Annual Meeting for the first time. Keep an eye out for green and red dots so you can welcome fellow members to the Meeting. Officers and members of the Council are designated by a blue dot on a badge—don't hesitate to introduce yourself to them.

Hospitality: Coffee and tea will be available in the elevator foyer.

Dress code: The dress code for the Meeting and other events is business attire.

Photographs and Recording: Your registration and attendance at the Annual Meeting constitutes your agreement to ALI's use and distribution of your image and voice in photographs, video recordings, and audio recordings of the Annual Meeting.

Persons with Disabilities: Please inform ALI at least two weeks in advance about any special arrangements required for you to be able to participate fully in the Meeting or in any of the related events.

Availability of Meeting Drafts

Printed copies of Annual Meeting drafts are mailed in advance to members who requested them. Electronic versions of the drafts are available to members on the Institute's website (www.ali.org). Members for whom ALI has a working email address will be notified by email when each draft is posted.

Motions: Submission Procedures and Deadlines

SUBMITTING MOTIONS

A member must be present at the Meeting to make a motion on a draft. Motions may not be submitted on Discussion Drafts (because they are not submitted for membership approval) or on Reporters' Notes (because they are considered the sole work of the Reporters, not the Institute).

Motions may be made from the floor without submission in advance of the Meeting. However, members appreciate the opportunity to review motions before a project session and so submission in advance of the session is encouraged. All motions submitted in advance must identify a single movant who will be present in the ballroom to make the motion and to discuss the motion with the Reporters.

The Institute's website provides an easy method for submitting motions. To submit a motion, visit the project page on the website and be sure that you are signed in. Click on the Motions tab and follow the prompts to submit your motion. You may type your motion directly into the text box or, if you prefer, you may upload a PDF or Microsoft Word document. Please provide a brief supporting statement along with the text of the motion. Proposed changes to the draft's text should be shown in redline format. PLEASE NOTE: Motions submitted online do not appear immediately; they will be viewable on the project page after they are posted by ALI staff. The Institute reserves the right to refuse to post materials it deems too lengthy or not appropriate for the purpose.

Members may also submit motions via email. The email address for each project is listed on the Motions tab. Members who prefer to submit motions via U.S. mail may send them to Nancy Shearer, The American Law Institute, 4025 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104-3099. Submissions will be acknowledged upon receipt.

MOTION DEADLINES

By May 6: For all motions received by 5:00 p.m. (EDT) on Friday, May 6, ALI staff will post the motion on the website, make the motion available for screen display in the ballroom, and provide printed copies of the motion on the tables outside the ballroom.

May 7-12: Motions received by midnight on Thursday, May 12, will be posted on the ALI website and made available for screen display in the ballroom. Members who submit a motion during this period are asked to hand-deliver 300 printed copies to the Meeting registration desk (Roosevelt Room) and complete a brief form. Copies delivered to the registration desk 24 hours in advance of the session will be placed on the tables outside the ballroom. Please do not send copies to the ALI or to The Ritz-Carlton.

After May 12: Members who do not meet the May 12 submission deadline, but wish to make a motion in advance of a project session, must hand-deliver a USB drive containing the motion, along with 300 printed copies, to the Meeting registration desk and complete a brief form. If the material is delivered to the registration desk 24 hours in advance of the session, the motion will be posted on the website and made available for screen display in the ballroom. ALI staff will place the movant's printed copies on the tables outside the ballroom.

Providing Comments on Annual Meeting Drafts

Members who wish to make comments on a draft are not required to submit a formal motion.

The Institute's website provides an easy method for submitting comments. To post a comment, visit the project page on the website and be sure that you are signed in. Click on the Comments tab and follow the prompts to submit your comment. You may type your comment directly into the text box or, if you prefer, you may upload a PDF or Microsoft Word document. PLEASE NOTE: Comments submitted online do not appear immediately; they will be viewable on the project page after they are posted by ALI staff.

Unless expressed otherwise in the submission, individuals who submit comments authorize The American Law Institute to retain the submitted material in its files and archives, and to copy, distribute, publish, and otherwise make it available to others, with appropriate credit to the author.

You may also submit your comment via electronic mail or standard mail. The email address for each project is listed on the Comments tab. Mailing addresses can be found on page iv of all drafts.

CLE Credit

Most mandatory-CLE states award credit for attendance at the Annual Meeting. Information about CLE credit for this year's Meeting will be available in the Roosevelt Room. There is a $100 administrative fee for those seeking CLE credit for any portion of the Annual Meeting. This fee—which may be paid in advance on the ticket-order form on paper or online, or in person at the ALI registration desk at The Ritz-Carlton—includes any state-required assessment to be paid by ALI. See ALI staff in the Roosevelt Room, during registration hours, to apply for CLE credit for this Meeting. (The fee referenced here is separate from tuition for the ALI CLE ethics course on Sunday, May 15. See page 12.)

Detailed Agenda

Note: The time shown for a particular project on this agenda may be adjusted during the Meeting. Changes to the agenda, if any, will be posted on the ALI website, and late changes will also be announced at the Meeting and posted in the Roosevelt Room of The Ritz-Carlton. Rules of the Council Pertaining to Annual Meetings*

9.02 Annual Meetings of the Membership

A. The President, in consultation with the Director, sets the agenda for the annual meeting of the Institute's membership, including the time limits for each general subject, each issue, and each speaker. The President or other presiding officer may adjust the time limits during a particular session. Members may, before the meeting, submit any motions they intend to make as well as comments on issues they wish to raise at the meeting, especially with respect to items not scheduled for plenary consideration.

B. During plenary deliberations, members should not make stylistic suggestions from the floor, but should submit them before or after the meeting or session. A maker of a main motion may speak for not more than five minutes and the reporters may respond for not more than five minutes. All other members who are recognized to speak from the floor may speak for not more than three minutes. The reporter and the maker of a main motion may each speak for one minute in closing. Notwithstanding the time limits specified here, the session's presiding officer may allow more or less time than this Rule provides.

9.03 Rules of Procedure

Subject to the Bylaws and these Rules, the procedures for the conduct of meetings under this Rule 9 should be set by the President or other presiding officer in conformity with generally accepted standards for the conduct of similar meetings. In the event of a dispute over proper procedure, if neither the Bylaws nor these Rules resolve the matter, then the President or other presiding officer should resolve it in accord with the then-current edition of Robert's Rules of Order.

Rule 4 Obligations of Institute Members

4.03 To maintain the Institute's reputation for thoughtful, disinterested analysis of legal issues, members are expected to leave client interests at the door. In communications made within the framework of Institute proceedings, members should speak, write, and vote on the basis of their personal and professional convictions and experience without regard to client interests or self-interest. It is improper for a member to represent a client in Institute proceedings and such conduct constitutes good cause for termination of Institute membership under Rule 5.02. If, in the consideration of Institute work, a member's statements can be properly assessed only if the client interests of the member or the member's firm are known, the member should make appropriate disclosure, but need not identify clients.

*A complete Rules of the Council is available online at www.ali.org/about-ali/governance.

Policy Concerning Floor Privileges for Nonmembers

Nonmembers may not make or second a motion and may not vote on any matter before the Annual Meeting. The President, in consultation with the Director, may extend the privilege of the floor to a nonmember who wishes to speak on a particular matter before the Meeting.

A request for such privilege should ordinarily be submitted in writing in advance of the Meeting to the President by email at ali@ali.org (or by mail or fax to the Philadelphia office). The following information should be included: (1) the particular issue that the nonmember wishes to address; (2) the nonmember's relevant credentials and affiliations with respect to the issue; (3) the nature of the nonmember's interest in the matter; (4) the name of any employer, client, or other person or organization that may have suggested that the nonmember address the matter at the Meeting or on whose behalf the nonmember may be speaking; and (5) a summary of the nonmember's intended comments. Whether a nonmember to whom a floor privilege is extended at the Meeting will be recognized for subsequent comment or further discussion is subject to the discretion of the presiding officer.

Nonmember Advisers and Liaisons to a project under discussion shall have the same speaking privileges as members with respect to that project, without needing to request such privileges in advance, but they too may not make, second, or vote upon a motion.

Pre-Meeting CLE Course

ETHICAL BOUNDARIES IN EFFECTIVE NEGOTIATIONS

Why You Should Attend

In the course of negotiations, how far can you push the ethical boundaries to get what you – or your client – want? Join us for an engaging two-hour panel as experienced practitioners, negotiators, and ethics experts consider a variety of ethical dilemmas that arise while negotiating a transaction, during litigation, and in law practice – in interactions with other practitioners, clients, and tribunals. You'll come away more sensitized to the art of the ethical deal, and what you can (and cannot) say and do in negotiations while adhering to your obligations under the Rules of Professional Conduct.

What You Will Learn

Different hypothetical scenarios will be posed to the panel and the audience for reaction and an interactive and enlightening discussion. The applicable ethics rules and opinions will be reviewed, including confidentiality duties and the more traditional prohibition on deception, as well as potential implications and solutions to these real world dilemmas.

Anticipated topics include:

- Settlement authority
- Multiple defendants
- Direct/ex parte communications with parties, including unrepresented adversaries
- Puffing vs. lying
- Omissions of material facts
- Negotiations between employers and lateral hires
- Negotiating with clients when seeking conflicts consent
- Communicating with a tribunal – what happens when the tribunal is not aware of:
 - one party's future plans (such as an impending bankruptcy filing)
 - adversaries' mistakes that have not been corrected
 - the court's own mistakes

Frequently Asked Questions

Can nonmembers attend the Meeting?

Yes, members may invite nonmember colleagues to attend the Meeting and related events. Nonmembers must register and/or purchase tickets in advance or on site at The Ritz-Carlton. Note that the Policy Concerning Floor Privileges for Nonmembers (see page 11 of this program) provides that nonmembers may not make or second a motion and may not vote on any matter before the Meeting.

Where can I pick up my badge on site?

You should pick up your badge at the ALI registration desk. You must pick up your badge before entering The Ritz-Carlton Ballroom and wear it for all Meeting sessions and events.

Why are there colored dots on some badges?

We use a green dot on a badge, together with a green lanyard, to indicate that the wearer is a newly elected member of the Institute, and a red dot to designate those attending an Annual Meeting for the first time. Keep an eye out for these members, so you can welcome them to ALI and to the Meeting!

Officers and members of the Council are designated by a blue dot on a badge — don't hesitate to introduce yourself to them.

Are there any special events for new members?

Yes. On Monday, May 16, ALI will hold a luncheon for members elected since May 2015. In addition, there is a dinner organized by newer members on Sunday, May 15. If you are in that group, you should receive an invitation. Pre-registration is required. Please contact Beth Goldstein at bgoldstein@ali.org or (215) 243-1666 for more information.

How can I find information on the status of the projects being presented at the Meeting?

The agenda will note whether projects are being presented for approval or for discussion. You also can visit the Projects section of our main website for more information on the projects.

How can I get copies of the Meeting drafts?

You will receive by mail in advance of the Meeting any drafts that you requested via our draft-selection invitation. You also can download drafts in PDF format after they are posted on our website (access is free for members and project participants). If we have a working email address for you, we will notify you by email when each draft is posted. In addition, printed copies of the drafts will be available at the Meeting.

Can I make comments on Meeting drafts?

Yes. In addition to comments and suggestions made from the floor at the Meeting, written comments on Annual Meeting drafts are welcome. Please submit your comment in accordance with the procedure described on page 5 of this program.

Submitted comments are posted by ALI staff as soon as possible.

I'd like to present a motion at the Meeting. How do I go about doing so?

Please submit your motion in accordance with the procedure described on page 3 of this program.

Submitted motions are posted by ALI staff as soon as possible.

Is CLE credit available?

Yes. For a $100 administrative fee, CLE credit is available for attendance at the project sessions at the Annual Meeting. In addition, a program by ALI CLE on Sunday, May 15, offers two hours of ethics credits. The tuition for the program is $150 for ALI members (and project Advisers) and $195 for all others. Advanced registration is required.

I have a disability. How can I make special arrangements to participate in the Meeting?

Please inform our Meetings Department (by phone at (215) 243-1675 or by email to meetings@ali.org) at least two weeks in advance of any special arrangements required for you to participate fully in the Meeting or any of the related events.

Is financial assistance available?

Financial assistance is available for members of the judiciary and public-sector and public-interest lawyers. Please contact the Membership Department by email to membership@ali.org or by phone to (215) 243-1666 for more information.

Will there be wireless access at the Meeting?

Yes. Free wireless access will be available in The Ritz-Carlton Ballroom.

What is the dress code for the Meeting and related events?

The dress code is business attire. The Annual Reception and Dinner are semi-formal (black tie optional).

I cannot attend, but would like to know what happens at the Meeting. Is there a way to see daily project updates? Will the Meeting be available by webcast?

A steady stream of news about the Meeting will be posted on the Annual Meeting website, and email updates will be sent daily after the Meeting adjourns. We'll also provide a full report on the Meeting in next issue of The ALI Reporter.

The Annual Meeting will not be broadcast online, but videos of speeches and remarks at events will be posted on ALI's website after the Meeting.

If your question isn't covered here, please contact ALI Membership Manager Jane Giacinto at jgiacinto@ali.org or (215) 243-1623.
